History/Description:

Regina has a tree tour, which demonstrates the trees and shrubs which can be grown in the city. The trail begins in Rotary Park and continues through Kiwanis and Les Sherman parks. Trees and shrubs along the path are labelled.

The project came together in 1995, with funding from Tree Canada Foundation's Green Streets program, with the assistance of several schools.

The brochure, which is available from city hall, includes information about each sample's characteristics; and will be very useful as you are planning your green and shady areas.
